

Seed Battles

A film by Kees Brouwer
An Icarus Films Release

Hidden deep inside a massive mountain in inhospitable Spitsbergen is the most important vault in the world: the Global Seed Vault. It is -20°C and the vault is able to withstand earthquakes, floods, missile attacks and nuclear disaster. It's Noah's Ark for our food production. The largest diversity in seeds from all over the world, a backup of as many crops as possible. This is vital, for by 2050 there will be 9 billion mouths to feed on our planet. But to whom do the seeds belong?
