

“A COURTROOM DRAMA WITH A DIFFERENCE...
A LIGHT TOUCH, A DRY WIT, AND VAST SYMPATHY.”

—Richard Brody, THE NEW YORKER

“BAMAKO is an attack on globalization that is endlessly cogent, confrontational — and, best of all, as captivating as it is illuminating.”

—Kevin Thomas, THE LOS ANGELES TIMES

“[An] intimate, urgent and wildly imaginative indictment of post-colonial economic policies in Africa.”

—Ann Hornaday, THE WASHINGTON POST

Melé is a bar singer, her husband Chaka is out of work and the couple is on the verge of breaking up... In the courtyard of the house they share with other families, a trial court has been set up. African civil society spokesmen have taken proceedings against the World Bank and the IMF whom they blame for Africa's woes... Amidst the pleas and the testimonies, life goes on in the courtyard.

Written and directed by the celebrated filmmaker Abderrahmane Sissako (Waiting for Happiness) and co-executive produced by Danny Glover (who also provides a cameo in the film), this critically acclaimed political drama — filled with a lush mix of warm colors and impassioned music — Bamako voices Africa's grievances in an original and profoundly moving way.
