“A GOOD-HUMORED TOUR DE FORCE AND AUDIENCE PLEASER.”

—THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER

Gauthier (Tom Dingler), a young journalist, finds a letter suggesting he might be the son of Guy Jamet (Alex Lutz), a 72-year-old French pop singer who was famous from the 60's to the 80's. As the old-time singer embarks on a tour to promote his newly released covers album, Gauthier follows his maybe-biological father under the pretext of filming a documentary about Guy's career.

Directed by French filmmaker and comic Alex Lutz (who also plays the titular elderly crooner), GUY is a witty, warmhearted mockumentary about a seventy-something pop star who has seen better days and a son's attempt to retrace the life of the father he never knew.
